

June 13, 1863

1912 Dates J-BK

WINCHESTER

Lee started north by way of the Shenandoah valley with a large Confederate army. At Winchester he came upon General MILROY with 7,000 men, whom he attacked and utterly routed. The broken and scattered Federal troops fled in confusion toward the Potomac river, and some were afterwards collected in Pennsylvania.